TAFT MEN WILL SUPPORT HUGHESPlan to Vote for New Yorker
if President Fails.

SCHEME IS WELL MATURED

Senator Crane and other advisers of the President are busy preparing to use every effort to defeat Roosevelt for the nomination in the event that Taft cannot secure the coveted prize.

Washington, June 1.—Senator Crane and the other advisers of President Taft have about decided that he cannot be nominated and have determined at the proper time in the convention to sidetrack him if possible and throw as much of his strength as they can command to Associate Justice Hughes.

The plan is well matured. Taft leaders in several states have been let into the secret. William Barnes, Jr. of New York, who has stood out against the proposal to turn to Hughes as a "dark horse," is said to have acquiesced in the movement on the ground that he would prefer Hughes to Roosevelt.

Sensor Crane outlined to one of his callers that the plan of the Taft managers now is to work to prevent the nomination of Roosevelt on the first few ballots; then to weed out his delegates as fast as they can be taken and deliver them to Hughes.

It was admitted that Senator La Follette has been approached to cooperate with the plotters in the matter of the temporary organization. He has been asked by Crane and the other Taft managers to put a La Follette candidate in the field for temporary chairman against Hadley. The object of this is to prevent La Follette's thirty-six delegates in Wisconsin and North Dakota from voting for Hadley against Root, as they will probably do unless they are delivered in accordance with the plan outlined by Crane.

Sensor La Follette has been asked to deliver them and Senator Crane expressed confidence that the senator would fall in with the plan.

Of course, Senator Crane was not proclaiming the program from the house. He outlined it to one of his friends, who disclosed it later in a conversation by way of boasting.

NEW THROUGH WITH DIXON

Declares He Will Have No More Words With Him.

Chicago, June 1.—Colonel Harry S. New, chairman of the subcommittee on arrangements for the Republican national convention, declared that despite various reports and controversies his committee would follow the system of seat distribution in vogue four years ago and previously in handling applications for seats at this year's convention.

Colonel New also said that he would decline to enter into further discussion with any one on that point, but, in announcing this determination, he delivered the following shaft at United States Senator Dixon, Colonel Roosevelt's campaign manager:

"Regarding the Roosevelt seat incident, so called, I simply wish to say that I will make no attempt to match Joe Dixon in billingsgate or insult and therefore will have no controversy with him."

SAYS 'COLONEL WILL BOLT'

Bryan's Opinion if Taft Men Control Convention.

Lincoln, Neb., June 1.—That while Taft apparently has a majority of the Chicago delegates Roosevelt intends to be a candidate before the people and, if necessary, will organize a bolting convention, is the gist of an editorial forecast by William J. Bryan in his Commoner, Bryan says:

"Roosevelt will apparently have a majority of the Northern states, while President Taft seems likely to have a majority of the convention including the Southern delegates, who represent merely patronage and boodle. Mr. Roosevelt has been careful to arrange for contesting delegates from the South—this was the first indication of his intention to bolt. With a majority of the Northern delegates he is in position to have a convention of his own in case his contesting delegates are refused admission."

TO HAVE SPEEDERS' COURT

Chicago Judges to Segregate Cases Against Motorists.

Chicago, June 1.—A "motorists' court" is to be established in Chicago, according to a decision reached by the municipal judges at a meeting. The court will deal exclusively with alleged violations of the speeding ordinances.

This action was one of the preliminary steps taken toward putting an end to the speed mania which has caused much discussion among city and county officials within the last few weeks.

Manchester, N. H., June 1.—A private message received here announced the death of General Henry M. Eddy, founder of the Christian Science church.

SENATE APPROVES
EIGHT-HOUR BILLExtends Principle to All Labor on Federal Contracts.

Washington, June 1.—By the decisive vote of 45 to 11 the senate passed the bill extending the eight-hour principle to contracts involving labor on government work. The negative votes were cast by Senators Bradley, Dillingham, DuPont, Gallinger, Heyburn, Oliver, Page, Root, Sanders and Wetmore, Republicans, and Percy, Democrat.

The measure had been before the senate on several occasions and had been fully debated. On this account the discussion was brief.

Senator Bailey of Texas and Senator Sanders of Tennessee opposed the bill, the former on the ground that the government has no right to restrict the right of any man in the matter of labor, and the latter on the plea that private concerns could not continue to take government contracts with the time limit imposed.

The measure provides that every contract hereafter adopted for the government requiring the employment of laborers or mechanics shall contain a provision that no laborer or mechanic doing any part of the work contemplated by the contract shall be required or permitted to work more than eight hours in one calendar day. A penalty of $5 is imposed for every violation of the provision.

LOOMIS BECOMES INDIGNANT

Railway Man Calls Certain Reports
"Vicious Lies."

Washington, June 1.—Edward E. Loomis, vice president and general manager of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, demanded that the house judiciary committee clear his name of "vicious lies" which, he said, appeared in the testimony concerning him in the investigation of charges against Judge R. W. Archibald of the commerce court.

Loomis was indignant over the statements of C. G. Boland, who told the committee that he understood that Judge Archibald, Mr. Loomis and President Truesdale of the Lackawanna were to be the beneficiaries of a $60,000 increase in the price for which Boland and his brother were to sell the Marion Coal company to the railroad.

BOMBS AT SAN FRANCISCO

Four Mysterious Explosions in Rapid Succession.

San Francisco, June 1.—Four bomb explosions occurred in rapid succession here in the downtown district. So far the police have been unable to account for any of them.

The first explosion was at Tom Corbett's saloon and pool room. The second was near by.

Tom Corbett is a brother of James J. Corbett and was betting commissioner in the Jeffries-Johnson heavyweight championship fight at Reno. The explosions occurred as a crowd swarmed from a moving picture and vaudeville show across the street from Corbett's.

The third occurred about ten minutes later at Broyer's saloon. A fourth explosion followed the first three.

New York, June 1.—It is announced here that the new 50,000 ton White Star liner, which will take the place of the Titanic in the fall of 1913, is to be named Britannic. It will be the same length as the Olympic, 869 feet.

ABSENTEEISM
IS A DRAWBACKProceedings in the House Are Affected Thereby.

MANY MEMBERS ARE AT HOME

Looking After Their Candidacies For Re-election—Senators' Efforts For Early Adjournment Not Likely to Succeed Until a Number of Measures Have Been Passed.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, June 1.—[Special.]—Absenteeism is a serious drawback to the orderly and expeditious proceedings in the house. Members are looking after their political interests at home. Taking a number of roll calls at random, I find the following number in the record as "not voting" on several important questions: An amendment in the Philippine bill, 141; on an appropriation bill, 142; Doremus amendment on Panama canal bill, 110; recommitting Panama canal bill, 115, and an even larger number on less important questions. It frequently happens that roll calls are forced two or three times a day with a loss of an hour or more because there is no quorum in the house. I asked Speaker Clark about this absenteeism.

"Members are getting themselves re-elected to congress," he sententiously replied. "What can you do about it? I have preached and argued when I was minority leader and since I have been speaker about the necessity of men staying here and attending to business, but it doesn't seem to have much effect."

The Best Way.

"The best way for men to get elected to congress," continued the speaker, "is to stay right here and attend to business."

"That is a pretty good way to get delegates also," I suggested. "It seems so," replied Champ, and he smiled grimly.

Making a Great Effort.

It is really amusing to see the efforts put forth by senators to secure an early adjournment when those same senators for months encouraged postponement of all legislation and voted to adjourn over two days in each week and begin the sessions at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Now everything crowds down all at once, and there is more or less scolding over the delays. "The longer we stay here the more damage we will do the country," was a remark of Senator Gallinger, who was trying to hurry adjournment. That is a view taken by many senators.

It has always been the effort of the senate leaders to postpone everything as long as possible, rush through the appropriation bills and adjourn, the theory being, just as Gallinger suggests, that "damage" will be avoided by such a course. But there is an element in the senate that would like to have a number of measures passed before there is an end of the session, and it begins to look as if they would have their way about it.

The Dove of Peace.

Congressman Barthold of Missouri had just finished a peace speech, he being one of the strongest advocates of universal peace in the house.

"It has been a great source of pleasure to me," said Hobson of Alabama, who is strong for war, "to listen to that speech. I am happy to be able to agree with the gentleman thoroughly upon his speech today."

"It affords me great happiness," said Barthold, not to be outdone, "to discover that the gentleman from Alabama and I have ever been able to agree upon a question of this kind."

Cause For Wonder.

For more than a year Senator Bourne of Oregon has been chairman of the postoffice committee, and during that time it has not been recorded that he has been in agreement with the postmaster general. So it was a matter of general surprise when Bourne published a letter from Mr. Hitchcock which boosted in every particular the Bourne parcels post bill. Bourne was pleased to receive such a letter, although no one can tell how far it will go in helping to pass the parcels post. Bourne insists upon the zone system, which is not approved by a number of people who think the rate on parcels should be uniform, as it is on letters and second class matter.

The National Anthem.

Senator Rayner of Maryland had a bill before the senate proposing to do something with old Fort McHenry, near Baltimore. The bill said that this fort was where "The Star Spangled Banner," the national anthem, was composed.

"When and where was 'The Star Spangled Banner' made the national anthem?" asked Heyburn. "My recollection is that 'My Country, 'Tis of Thee,' is just as much a national anthem as the other."

Well, of course no one has made "The Star Spangled Banner" the national anthem, save by general custom. The other song is sung to the tune of the English "God Save the King," and the idea of making that the anthem is going out. "The Star Spangled Banner" is played when the president appears. It is played at military posts and naval stations for lowering the colors and is generally accepted as the national anthem.

Washington, June 1.—Immediate legislation to prevent the promiscuous sale of habit forming drugs was urged by President Taft in a message transmitted to congress. The message was accompanied by a report from Secretary of State Knox, declaring that "unless speedy action is taken measures now pending in congress on the American government justly may be accused of being half-hearted in its efforts to mitigate or suppress the opium traffic and allied evils."

JOB HARRIMAN IS ACCUSED

Alleged to Have Given Darrow Money to Bribe Jurors.

Los Angeles, June 1.—Job Harriman, late candidate for mayor of Los Angeles on the Socialist ticket, sat within the bar at the trial of Clarence S. Darrow, for alleged jury bribing and heard himself accused of being the man who provided Darrow with the alleged bribe money.

Later he heard the same witness, Bert H. Franklin, testifying for the state, quote Darrow as saying to him: "If you mention my name I want you also to mention what you know about Job Harriman."

Franklin's testimony on direct examination was at times dramatic, the witness departing from his apparent willingness to tell all he knew, to a seeming loathness to give evidence concerning close friends, whom he subsequently drew into his story of jury corruption.

WAITERS' STRIKE IS OVER TIP QUESTIONFour Thousand New York Hotel
Employees Are Out.

New York, June 1.—Otto Scholtz, one of the striking New York waiters, sounded a new note at a meeting of strikers when he said:

"I'll tell you what the strike really is against. It is against the tip. At present we waiters get the degradation of the tip and the boss the benefit. If the boss wants the tip so badly let him collect it and not put all the dirty work of the business on the waiter."

William D. Haywood, Rose Pastor Stokes, Joseph Elster, organizer of the strike, and Secretary Edward Blochinger made speeches.

Haywood said he was reliably informed that "even Judge Gary of the steel trust went into a hotel where he was well known and was unable to get so plain an order as ham and eggs."

"The judge never dreamed that a waiter was as big as he," continued Haywood, "but I tell you if you stand together you are bigger than the whole steel trust."

The addition of 1,000 strikers to the ranks, bringing the total to 4,000, and a demonstration marked with disorder on Fifth avenue, were features of the effort of the union to enforce recognition and to obtain increases in wages and improvements in working conditions for employees in the kitchens and dining rooms of the thousands of New York eating places.

GIVES WOLGAST HARD FIGHT

Young Jack O'Brien Proves Himself Clever.

Philadelphia, June 1.—Champion Ad Wolgast and Young Jack O'Brien fought a fast six round bout before the American Athletic club and at the end the advantage, if any, was with the champion.

O'Brien was the cleverer, but his blows lacked force, while those of Wolgast made the Philadelphia boy wince when they landed on the body. In the second round Wolgast dropped O'Brien for the count of nine, but the blow did not stop the youngster's speed, which at times dazzled Wolgast.

NEW TRIAL FOR DR. FRITCH

Alleged Slayer of Girl Wins in Michigan Supreme Court.

Detroit, June 1.—The Michigan supreme court granted a new trial to Dr. George A. Fritch of Detroit, who was convicted in March, 1910, of the murder of Mabel Millman.

Fritch is now in Jackson prison, where he was sentenced to serve from seven and one-half years to fifteen years. His conviction followed one of the most sensational trials ever held in Michigan.

The dismembered body of Miss Millman, who was a patient of the doctor, was found in the Detroit river in September, 1907.

GIVES MARINES
PERMIT TO LANDCuban President Sends Instructions to Commander.

AMERICANS MAY DISEMBARK

Bluejackets Can Be Used to Guard Foreign Property, Thus Relieving the Cuban Forces for Service in Operations Against the Insurgents. Havana Paper's Issue Extras Giving Account of Battle.

Havana, June 1.—President Gomez telegraphed General Montegudo, the commander-in-chief of the Cuban army, who is at the scene of the hostilities in the province of Oriente, stating that the general might permit American marines to land on Cuban soil to guard foreign property.

The dispatch added that the Cuban forces then might retire from guarding such places and devote themselves to pursuing the insurgents.

The message of President Gomez said the government had been successful in all the provinces except Oriente.

There was a copy of a dispatch sent to General Montegudo by the commandant of the American naval station at Guantanamo acquainting General Montegudo of his intention to send the marines of the gunboat Paducah to Daiquiri to protect American property there.

Annexed to the message was General Montegudo's reply that he had arranged for the protection of Daiquiri with an ample force, that he could not consent to the landing of American marines without the acquiescence of his government.

The American legation received advices from Daiquiri that the plant of the American Iron company had been attacked, but that its assailants were held in check by forty guards, who later were reinforced by 100 other men. This combined force drove off the insurgents and on the arrival of the Paducah the fighting was over and apparently there was no necessity for extending the aid of American marines.

There was great excitement in Havana when several of the newspapers issued extra editions announcing a battle had taken place not far from Santiago in which many rebels had been killed by the fire of the Cuban artillery. The government said there had been a collision between national and rebel forces in which the former's artillery was brought into play, apparently with good effect. The extent of the casualties, it was announced, was unknown.

BLACKS BECOME MARAUDERS

Cuban Rebels Turn Efforts to Destroying Property.

Washington, June 1.—The continued marauding of small bands of negroes in the eastern end of Cuba and the absence of anything like a decisive engagement between the rebel forces and the government is the substance of all of the reports that have come to the state department from the American consuls in the troubled district.

The arrival of the gunboat Paducah at Daiquiri, about fifteen miles from Santiago, it is believed, will insure the American properties in that neighborhood against further molestation. The gunboat Nashville is now in Nipe bay on the North coast, where there are also large American interests.

TO RETAIN COMMERCE COURT

Senate Committee Replaces Appropriation Eliminated by House.

Washington, June 1.—The senate committee on finance voted to place in the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill the appropriation for the commerce court eliminated by the house. The house action was expected to abolish the court and the provision inserted by the senate committee will precipitate a lively fight in conference.

The committee also voted to strike from the bill the provision limiting the terms of office of all civil service employees to five years.

COLONEL MAY GO TO CHICAGO

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 1.—Colonel Roosevelt was less certain that he would not decide eventually to go to Chicago.

"I have no intention of going unless circumstances make it necessary," Colonel Roosevelt returned to Sagamore Hill after his trip to Gettysburg, Pa., having spent the day in New York. During the day he conferred with a number of his supporters in regard to the lineup of delegates for the Chicago convention.

CALLS FOR BEEF TRUST INQUIRY

Representative Edwards Introduces Bill in House.

GOVERNMENT BUREAU REPORT

While Dispatches From Chicago Announce War Prices on Meats and Ascribe the Figures as Owing to Scarcity of Cattle a Report by the Bureau of Statistics Tends to Show There Is No Shortage.

Washington, June 1.—A congressional investigation may grow out of a most remarkable situation disclosed by a report of the bureau of statistics, just made public, on commercial movements of live stock and packing house products in April and for the first four months of the present year.

At the very time when dispatches from Chicago are announcing war prices on meats and are ascribing it to shortage of cattle, due to scarcity of corn, the report of the bureau of statistics tends to show there is no shortage.

Another attack on the "beef trust" by the federal authorities is demanded in a bill introduced in the house by Representative Edwards, Democrat, Georgia. The measure directs the attorney general to "immediately institute an honest and thorough investigation of the 'beef trust' in the United States with a view to discovering if the trust is controlling the prices of meats."

It is shown by the government report that the live stock receipts at the seven principal Western markets in April were greater than in any April since 1907. Furthermore, the aggregate receipts of live stock at these seven markets the first four months of this year were greater by far than in the same four months of any year for the last decade.

Just why, in the face of such a showing, the packers should be pushing up prices, as they are, is a mystery. The question arises whether they have been encouraged by the defeat of the government in the packers' prosecutions to proceed to "soak" the public.

It is true the government figures are not brought through May, but the live stock showing all through the early part of the year is remarkably good. The receipts of cattle and calves at the seven principal Western markets in April this year show a slight increase over those of the April receipts of the two preceding years. Such receipts (cattle and calves) for the first four months of the year show a slight decline when compared with the receipts in the same period in preceding years, but this is the only case of a decline. Hog and sheep receipts in April were heavy in the Western markets and showed increases over preceding April receipts.

W. Archbald of the commerce court.

Loomis was indignant over the statements of C. G. Boland, who told the committee that he understood that Judge Archbald, Mr. Loomis and President Truesdale of the Lackawanna were to be the beneficiaries of a $60,000 increase in the price for which Boland and his brother were to sell the Marion Coal company to the railroad.

Washington, June 1.—By the decisive vote of 45 to 11 the senate passed the house bill extending the eight-hour principle to contracts involving labor on government work. Gronna to Offer Amendment to Each Tariff Measure.

Washington, June 1.—The repeal of the Canadian reciprocity act will be offered as an amendment to each tariff revision bill brought up in the senate, according to a plan announced by Senator Gronna of North Dakota.

Bourne insists upon the zone system, which is not approved by a number of people who think the rate on parcels should be uniform, as it is on letters and second class matter.

The National Anthem.

Senator Rayner of Maryland had a bill before the senate proposing to do something with old Fort McHenry, near Baltimore. The bill said that this fort was where "The Star Spangled Banner," the national anthem, was composed.

"When and where was 'The Star Spangled Banner' made the national anthem?" asked Heyburn. "My recollection is that 'My Country, 'Tis of Thee' is just as much a national anthem as the other."

Well, of course no one has made "The Star Spangled Banner" the national anthem, save by general custom. The other song is sung to the tune of the English "God Save the King," and the idea of making that the anthem is going out. "The Star Spangled Banner" is played when the president appears. It is played at military posts and naval stations for lowering the colors and is generally accepted as the national anthem.

JOB HARRIMAN.

Charged With Giving Darrow Money to Use for Bribery.

JOB HARRIMAN IS ACCUSED

Alleged to Have Given Darrow Money to Bribe Jurors.

Los Angeles, June 1.—Job Harriman, late candidate for mayor of Los Angeles on the Socialist ticket, sat within the bar at the trial of Clarence S. Darrow, for alleged jury bribing and heard himself accused of being the man who provided Darrow with the alleged bribe money.

Later he heard the same witness, Bert H. Franklin, testifying for the state, quote Darrow as saying to him: "If you mention my name I want you also to mention what you know about Job Harriman."

Franklin's testimony on direct examination was at times dramatic, the witness departing from his apparent willingness to tell all he knew, to a seeming loathness to give evidence concerning close friends, whom he subsequently drew into his story of jury corruption.

WAITERS' STRIKE IS OVER TIP QUESTION

Four Thousand New York Hotel Employees Are Out.

New York, June 1.—Otto Scholtz, one of the striking New York waiters, sounded a new note at a meeting of strikers when he said:

"I'll tell you what the strike really is against. It is against the tip. At present we waiters get the degradation of the tip and the boss the benefit. If the boss wants the tip so badly let him collect it and not put all the dirty work of the business on the waiter."

William D. Haywood, Rose Pastor Stokes, Joseph Elster, organizer of the strike, and Secretary Edward Blochinger made speeches.

Haywood said he was reliably informed that "even Judge Gary of the steel trust went into a hotel where he was well known and was unable to get so plain an order as ham and eggs."

"The judge never dreamed that a waiter was as big as he," continued Haywood, "but I tell you if you stand together you are bigger than the whole steel trust."

The addition of 1,000 strikers to the ranks, bringing the total to 4,000, and a demonstration marked with disorder on Fifth avenue, were features of the effort of the union to enforce recognition and to obtain increases in wages and improvements in working conditions for employees in the kitchens and dining rooms of the thousands of New York eating places.

GIVES WOLGAST HARD FIGHT

Young Jack O'Brien Proves Himself Clever.

Philadelphia, June 1.—Champion Ad Wolgast and Young Jack O'Brien fought a fast six round bout before the American Athletic club and at the end the advantage, if any, was with the champion.

O'Brien was the cleverer, but his blows lacked force, while those of Wolgast made the Philadelphia boy wince when they landed on the body.

In the second round Wolgast dropped O'Brien for the count of nine, but the blow did not stop the youngster's speed, which at times dazzled Wolgast.

NEW TRIAL FOR DR. FRITCH

Alleged Slayer of Girl Wins in Michigan Supreme Court.

Detroit, June 1.—The Michigan supreme court granted a new trial to Dr. George A. Fritch of Detroit, who was convicted in March, 1910, of the murder of Mabel Millman.

Fritch is now in Jackson prison, where he was sentenced to serve from seven and one-half years to fifteen years. His conviction followed one of the most sensational trials ever held in Michigan.

The dismembered body of Miss Millman, who was a patient of the doctor, was found in the Detroit river in September, 1907.

OPIUM MERCHANTS SEE RUIN

Allege That China Is Disregarding Treaties With India.

Bombay, India, June 1.—The opium merchants of India claim they are threatened with ruin by the alleged disregard by China of the existing treaties and they have appealed to the government to save them. They assert the Chinese merchants refuse the delivery of opium which they have purchased because the provincial authorities decline to admit it. Consequently the stocks of opium in India are accumulating to an unbearable degree. At the same time the protesting ones complain the resumption of the cultivation of opium in China is unchecked and that in several of the most important provinces the free and unrestricted cultivation of opium is in progress.

WOUNDS NEGRO AND CAMEL

Discharged Circus Employee Refused Food and Ejected From Tent.

Marshalltown, Ia., June 1.—Refused food, it is said, and ejected from the dining tent of Lamont Bros' circus, which showed in Reinbeck, Jess Hainey, a discharged employee of the show, shot and seriously wounded a negro named Edgin. The shooting occurred in the animal tent and one of the four bullets Ramey fired hit a camel, probably fatally wounding it. Two of the others struck the negro.

Cuban President Sends Instructions to Commander.

AMERICANS MAY DISEMBARK

Bluejackets Can Be Used to Guard Foreign Property, Thus Relieving the Cuban Forces for Service in Operations Against the Insurgents. Havana Papers Issue Extras Giving Account of Battle.

Havana, June 1.—President Gomez telegraphed General Montenegro, the commander-in-chief of the Cuban army, who is at the scene of the hostilities in the province of Oriente, stating that the general might permit American marines to land on Cuban soil to guard foreign property.

The dispatch added that the Cuban forces then might retire from guarding such places and devote themselves to pursuing the insurgents.

The message of President Gomez said the government had been successful in all the provinces except Oriente.

There was a copy of a dispatch sent to General Montenegro by the commandant of the American naval station at Guantanamo acquainting General Montenegro of his intention to send the marines of the gunboat Paducah to Daiquiri to protect American property there.

Annexed to the message was General Montenegro's reply that he had arranged for the protection of Daiquiri with an ample force, that he could not consent to the landing of American marines without the acquiescence of his government.

The American legation received advice from Daiquiri that the plant of the American iron company had been attacked, but that its assailants were held in check by forty guards, who later were reinforced by 100 other men. This combined force drove off the insurgents and on the arrival of the Paducah the fighting was over and apparently there was no necessity for extending the aid of American marines.

There was great excitement in Havana when several of the newspapers issued extra editions announcing a battle had taken place not far from Santiago in which many rebels had been killed by the fire of the Cuban artillery. The government said there had been a collision between national and rebel forces in which the former's artillery was brought into play, apparently with good effect. The extent of the casualties, it was announced, was unknown.

BLACKS BECOME MARAUDERS

Cuban Rebels Turn Efforts to Destroying Property.

Washington, June 1.—The continued marauding of small bands of negroes in the eastern end of Cuba and the absence of anything like a decisive engagement between the rebel forces and the government is the substance of all of the reports that have come to the state department from the American consuls in the troubled district.

The arrival of the gunboat Paducah at Daiquiri, about fifteen miles from Santiago, it is believed, will insure the American properties in that neighborhood against further molestation. The gunboat Nashville is now in Nipe bay on the North coast, where there are also large American interests.

TO RETAIN COMMERCE COURT

Senate Committee Replaces Appropriation Eliminated by House.

Washington, June 1.—The senate committee on finance voted to place in the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill the appropriation for the commerce court eliminated by the house. The house action was expected to abolish the court and the provision inserted by the senate committee will precipitate a lively fight in conference.

The committee also voted to strike from the bill the provision limiting the terms of office of all civil service employees to five years.

Chas. Mahlum, Bill Marx and Sam English celebrated Memorial day by adorning the waters of Blackduck lake with their presence. The lake became very rough upon their arrival and covered with white caps, which brought to the surface hundreds of beautiful pike, throwing more than the limit into the boats occupied by the boys. It was a hard tussle to make shore with the cargo, even after they had thrown off enough of the fish over the limit so as not to contravene the game and fish laws. The boys congratulate themselves on the new system of fishing Charles presence brought about, against which the commission has not as yet ruled.

SECURES LEAVE OF ABSENCE
Visiting Nurse, Miss Edith Bohlke, to Go to Todd County for Three Months

At Miss Bohlke's request the health committee have granted her a leave of absence during the months of June, July and August. This action was taken in view of the fact that the work is light and not likely to be sufficient to occupy her time during these months. Mr. Easton, secretary of the anti-tuberculosis association has asked Miss Bohlke to go to Todd county for a month's work among tubercular patients there, and it is probable that she will act as visiting nurse supply in Minneapolis during the other two months. The committee has arranged with her however, to return at any time should conditions arise which would make her presence necessary.

Gold, silver and bronze medals, together with a framed set of engrossed resolutions, were presented to the officers and entire crew, which had been mustered in the saloon.

At Deekus there was also a good crowd in attendance.

Chas. Mahlum, Bill Marx and Sam English celebrated Memorial day by adorning the waters of Blackduck lake with their presence. The lake became very rough upon their arrival and covered with white caps, which brought to the surface hundreds of beautiful pike, throwing more than the limit into the boats occupied by the boys. It was a hard tussle to make shore with the cargo, even after they had thrown off enough of the fish over the limit so as not to contravene the game and fish laws. The boys congratulated themselves on the new system of fishing Charles' presence brought about, against which the commission has not as yet ruled.

SECURES LEAVE OF ABSENCE
Visiting Nurse, Miss Edith Bohlke, to Go to Todd County for Three Months

At Miss Bohlke's request the health committee have granted her a leave of absence during the months of June, July and August. This action was taken in view of the fact that the work is light and not likely to be sufficient to occupy her time during these months. Mr. Easton, secretary of the anti-tuberculosis association has asked Miss Bohlke to go to Todd county for a month's work among tubercular patients there, and it is probable that she will act as visiting nurse supply in Minneapolis during the other two months. The committee has arranged with her however, to return at any time should conditions arise which would make her presence necessary.

PIONEER RAILROAD CONDUCTOR DIES

Moses Brinkerhoff, Remembered by Early Residents Dies at Suokane at the Age of 87

BETWEEN BRAINERD AND FARGO

Was Highly Honored by Employers for Faithful Services—Worked Continuously 67 Years

The Duluth News-Tribune contains the following which will be of interest to the old time residents of Brainerd:

Moses Brinkerhoff, of Spokane, a former pioneer railroad conductor of Duluth and St. Paul, is dead at the age of 87. He passed away May 26 and his demise will stir the memories of pioneer residents of Minnesota and other northwestern states. J. W. Sargent, the well known conductor on the Lake Superior Limited, was a brakeman for Mr. Brinkerhoff between Fargo and Brainerd in 1876, and therefore knew him well. Mr. Sargent was at the Duluth end of his run last night, and when told that the old railroad had passed away, expressed keen regret.

"Mose Brinkerhoff," said Mr. Sargent, "formerly resided with his family in Duluth at the corner of Second avenue East and Second street, in the old Northrup house. The St. Regis apartment houses are there now. Mose came to the Northern Pacific with C. W. Mead from the Hannibal & St. Joe road about 1873 and during 1873 and 1874 Brinkerhoff was a passenger conductor between St. Paul and Duluth on the old Lake Superior & Mississippi road. Mead was general manager of the Northern Pacific. He was quite deaf at that time, and was retired from active service under a pension from the Northern Pacific."

The late Mr. Brinkerhoff was the oldest railroad man in the United States in point of service. He was in continuous service 67 years. The dispatch from Spokane says that although he has been drawing a pension for years, that he has reported regularly for service until a few weeks ago.

He was born at Walcott, N. Y., July 24. He began his railroad career as a brakeman on the New York Central in 1842 and was later employed on the Lake Shore & Mississippi as a conductor and on the Panama railway in 1856. He saved a train of bullion from the California gold fields from brigands and natives by locking his passengers in a building and warning the crew of the gold-laden train.

After locking the passengers in the building he disguised as a native and fought his way to the other train seven miles away. Diamonds were presented by grateful passengers and the company gave him a gold watch and a revolver. These will go to his son, George Brinkerhoff, a resident of Spokane.

Brinkerhoff was transferred to the Northern Pacific as soon as the track was laid into the Dakotas. He heard passengers denounce the optimists as fanatics who said the line would go to the coast in the future.

After his hearing became affected, 30 years ago, the Northern Pacific pensioned him, permitting him to act as coal agent at Fargo, N. D. He moved to Spokane 23 years ago and has spent the latter part of his life collecting for the company in the freight department.

Funeral services were conducted at the Masonic temple, May 28, under the auspices of lodge No. 34. Brinkerhoff was a thirty-second degree Mason, and a special escort from the commandery of the Knights Templar attended the funeral.

Helps a Judge in Bad Fix

Justice Eli Cherry, of Gillis Mills, Tenn., was plainly worried. A bad sore on his leg had baffled several doctors and long resisted remedies. "I thought it was a cancer," he wrote. "At last I used Bucklen's Arnica Salve and was completely cured." Cures burns, ulcers, cuts, bruises and pills. 25 cents at all druggists.

PINE RIVER WELCOMES SPECIAL

Special to Dispatch:

Pine River, Minn., May 31—Pine River has proven to be the banner town, agriculturally, so far in the tour of the "Agricultural Special" train which was this week run from Duluth to Staples, and from Brainerd northward over the M. & N. to International Falls. Over 800 people were cut at this point to greet the visitors and the train remained here from 2:30 p. m. until 9:40 the same evening. During the afternoon lectures and demonstrations were given in three separate cars and in the opera hall and many people were on the streets unable to get to hear any of the speakers. The evening session was held in opera hall and the capacity was overtaxed to accommodate the large attendance. The Pine River band was out to welcome the train and gave two open air concerts during the afternoon and evening. The speakers, and others connected with the train, were served with a pike dinner—with all the trimmings, at the Barclay, each guest being served with a whole two pound pike.

"THE PERILS OF KNOWLEDGE"

Bishop E. H. Hughes, Delivers Inspiring Address at High School Commencement

EXERCISES AT OPERA HOUSE

"The End of Knowledge is Character Expressed in Service," Said the Bishop

An audience which filled every seat in the opera house on the occasion of the commencement exercises of the Brainerd high school was charmed and thrilled by the inspiring eloquence of Bishop E. H. Hughes, of San Francisco, who delivered the address of the evening.

The stage was appropriately decorated with ferns and flowers and above all was suspended the motto of the class of 1912, "Out of School Life Into Life's School." The boxes and the stage were draped with green and white, the class colors. On the stage were seated the speaker of the evening, Bishop Hughes, Rev. G. P. Sheridan, Rev. W. J. Lowrie, Supt. W. C. Cobb, Principal L. T. McCarty, Prof. Callan and W. E. Erickson and Louis Hohman, members of the school board. Occupying a semi-circle on the stage was the graduating class.

The girls' glee club sang "Forget-Me-Nots." Miss Mildred Skauge accompanying them on the piano. John Mahlum, the president of the class, extended a welcome to the commencement exercises and in the course of his address thanked the faculty, the board of education and the citizens in general for the advantages of education enjoyed at the high school. He bid farewell to the class and in closing said: "Some of us may prosper, some may face adversity. But all of us will speak only with the greatest love and respect for the school we are leaving tonight."

Miss Hooper's song, "The Swallows" was rendered in a manner which drew hearty applause. She was accompanied by Miss Nell Fie Alderman.

Bishop Hughes was appropriately introduced by Supt. W. C. Cobb, of the city schools. The bishop chose as his subject, "The Perils of Knowledge." He believed that principals and superintendent might be afraid of the subject he was to discuss on the one evening of the year presumably glorifying education and that his topic might appear inappropriate. He then gave the example of the lecturer who discoursed on the perils of beauty. His audience first regarded him as a frivolous critic but later he made his point. He traced the reign of the beauties of old, of Helen of Troy, Cleopatra, the strangely tragic and bloody chapter in Scotch history at the time of Mary, Queen of Scots, showing that beauty bore no frivolous relation to history. Then after the lecturer had wrought up his audience to its highest pitch, he looked them over and said:

"There is no cause for alarm. No body is in immediate danger." "In the same manner," said the bishop, "I shall now speak of the perils of knowledge, but it would not be right for me to say that no one was in immediate danger. The young people on the stage were at the point where education may play them a trick. "A little knowledge is a dangerous thing." "Knowledge puffeth up." There were certain dangers inherent in a type of intellectual life. Everything has a double side, that of safety and danger, depending upon the right or wrong attitude in which one regarded it. Keeping the right relation to the law of gravity permitted him to stand upon the stage. Taking three steps forward would put him in the wrong relation and he would fall prone to the ground. The law is always the same, the danger only results when a man is out of key with the law of gravitation. Water in the huge reservoir of a city in Pennsylvania, acting in its right relation, supplied the city with water. When that same water seeped through a crevice, burst the walls and tore down the hillside and wiped Johnstown off the map it acted in the wrong relation.

He traced right and wrong attitudes in religion, the peasant revolts in Germany, St. Bartholomew's bloody days, the persecutions of the Jews. Education does not escape the double law. When a young man gets an ideal beyond his performance he is possessed with the temptation to quite performing. He quoted the example of Frederick Amiel, the brilliant and erratic professor whose diary sustained this point.

An example of self consciousness was the young girl with the pleasing voice who sang without much encouragement. Later she had the experience of tuition. Her voice became cultivated and with the cultivation urgent entreaties were necessary in order to make her sing. There is a sophomore stage of knowledge when a man becomes critical of himself. The student needs a note of obligation in his life. The goal in life is a moving goal and he illustrated by describing an ocean voyage with its ever receding horizon. The goal of intellectual life was a flying goal. At no time can we say a period has been reached. "When the time comes that you think you have preached your best sermon, be scared to death."

The first peril of knowledge is that we become self conscious. We become critical of ourselves. But one person out of 15 that one meets is a graduate of a high school. 1 person out of 100 has the degree of bachelor of arts. Many a man is in danger of believing that these honors put him in a class of the select. The bishop was always uneasy when some of his students spoke of the masses and made covert references to the "common run," the "rank and file." Whenever a man gets such an idea of classifying humanity he stands on the edge of a precipice.

"I do not want an intellectual aristocracy which shall stand upon a pedestal and look down upon the people." He detested intellectual snobbery. He described the difference in two families, one where the German parents had educated their children to such a point that the young man and woman were ashamed of the broken English of their parents. The other type was the young man who acknowledged the aid his parents had given him in securing an education, who had them attend the commencement exercises and whose address bore a real message, for the young man felt it himself and wanted others to feel it. The father turned to his wife and said: "Mary, that is the best crop we ever raised."

All our corn fields, oat fields and wheat fields amount to nothing unless we raise the right crops of manhood and womanhood. God save us from an aristocracy which talks of the "rank and file," the "hoi polloi."

Some believe that knowledge can be made a substitute for moral character. He quoted Edgar Allen Poe, Lord Byron, Carlyle and Bobby Burns. There was necessarily no connection between knowledge and meanness, and goodness and illiteracy. A moral tribute to education was the fact that 80 per cent of the 1200 inmates of the Jeffersonville reformatory had not attended high school. In that whole list of prisoners there was but one high school graduate. Knowledge did not necessarily produce character. Edgar Allen Poe, the most brilliant man in American letters, walked with the stars intellectually and wallowed in the mud morally. Humanity will not trust you to follow you if you have not the character. True manhood and womanhood are the only prizes on earth that are worth while.

Another peril is to make knowledge an end instead of the means to an end. It is gratifying that the leader in each political party is a college man who tells men of the colleges that they are under greater obligations to society than the unlettered man.

"The end of knowledge is character expressed in service," said the bishop in conclusion. Turning to the class he mentioned the money that had been spent on their education. What sort of a return would they give Brainerd, the state of Minnesota, the United States for the investment made?

The man of attainments who rendered no intellectual service was a bad man. The bishop paid a tribute to the old McGuffey readers and mentioned the story of the miser who in the end died with his money. "Money is never any good until it is converted into something better than money." The time is coming when the bookworm will be held more contemptible than the miser. He closed in an eloquent appeal to the graduating class to attain the ideals and fulfill the hopes of their parents and that their endeavors would lead them to attain the highest fields of character. The address of Bishop Hughes was frequently interrupted with applause. After the exercises he held an informal reception on the stage and shook hands with all of the class and many in the audience.

The mixed glee club sang, "Out on the Deep." W. E. Erickson, president of the board of education, granted the diplomas, the clerk, Louis Hohman, reading the names of the graduates. Rev. G. P. Sheridan gave the benediction.

Benjamin Weber attained the highest grades in the class, his final examination papers showing marks from 95 to 100. He was the valedictorian of the class.

Sadie Cregan, in "Thelma" at the opera house Sunday night, June 2nd

PIONEER RAILROAD CONDUCTOR DIES

Moses Brinkerhoff, Remembered by Early Residents Dies at Spokane at the Age of 87

BETWEEN BRAINERD AND FARGO

Was Highly Honored by Employers for Faithful Services—Worked Continuously 67 Years

The Duluth News-Tribune contains the following which will be of interest to the old time residents of Brainerd:

Moses Brinkerhoff, of Spokane, a former pioneer railroad conductor of Duluth and St. Paul, is dead at the age of 87. He passed away May 26 and his demise will stir the memories of pioneer residents of Minnesota and other northwestern states. J. W. Sargent, the well known conductor on the Lake Superior Limited, was a brakeman for Mr. Brinkerhoff between Fargo and Brainerd in 1876, and therefore knew him well. Mr. Sargent was at the Duluth end of his run last night, and when told that the old railroader had passed away, expressed keen regret.

"Mose Brinkerhoff," said Mr. Sargent, "formerly resided with his family in Duluth at the corner of Second avenue East and Second street, in the old Northrup house. The St. Regis apartment houses are there now. Mose came to the Northern Pacific with C. W. Mead from the Hannibal & St. Joe road about 1873 and during 1873 and 1874 Brinkerhoff was a passenger conductor between St. Paul and Duluth on the old Lake Superior & Mississippi road. Mead was general manager of the Northern Pacific. He was quite deaf at that time, and was retired from active service under a pension from the Northern Pacific."

The late Mr. Brinkerhoff was the oldest railroad man in the United States in point of service. He was in continuous service 67 years. The dispatch from Spokane says that although he has been drawing a pension for years, that he has reported regularly for service until a few weeks ago.

He was born at Walcott, N. Y., July 24. He began his railroad career as a brakeman on the New York Central in 1842 and was later employed on the Lake Shore & Mississippi as a conductor and on the Panama railway in 1856. He saved a train of bullion from the California gold fields from brigands and natives by locking his passengers in a building and warning the crew of the gold-laden train.

After locking the passengers in the building he disguised as a native and fought his way to the other train seven miles away. Diamonds were presented by grateful passengers and the company gave him a gold watch and a revolver. These will go to his son, George Brinkerhoff, a resident of Spokane.

Brinkerhoff was transferred to the Northern Pacific as soon as the track was laid into the Dakotas. He heard passengers denounce the optimists as fanatics who said the line would go to the coast in the future.

After his hearing became affected, 30 years ago, the Northern Pacific pensioned him, permitting him to act as coal agent at Fargo, N. D. He moved to Spokane 23 years ago and has spent the latter part of his life collecting for the company in the freight department.

Funeral services were conducted at the Masonic temple, May 28, under the auspices of lodge No. 34. Brinkerhoff was a thirty-second degree Mason, and a special escort from the commandery of the Knights Templar attended the funeral.

Justice Eli Cherry, of Gillis Mills, Tenn., was plainly worried. A bad sore on his leg had baffled several doctors and long resisted remedies. "I thought it was a cancer," he wrote. ## PINE RIVER WELCOMES SPECIAL

Special to Dispatch:

Pine River, Minn., May 31—Pine River has proven to be the banner town, agriculturally, so far in the tour of the "Agricultural Special" train which was this week run from Duluth to Staples, and from Brainerd northward over the M. & N. to International Falls. Over 800 people were out at this point to greet the visitors and the train remained here from 2:30 p. m. until 9:40 the same evening. During the afternoon lectures and demonstrations were given in three separate cars and in the opera hall and many people were on the streets unable to get to hear any of the speakers. The evening session was held in opera hall and the capacity was overtaxed to accommodate the large attendance. The Pine River band was out to welcome the train and gave two open air concerts during the afternoon and evening. The speakers, and others connected with the train, were served with a pike dinner—with all the trimmings, at the Barclay, each guest being served with a whole two pound pike.

"THE PERILS OF KNOWLEDGE"

Bishop E. H. Hughes, Delivers Inspiring Address at High School Commencement

EXERCISES AT OPERA HOUSE

"The End of Knowledge is Character Expressed in Service," Said the Bishop

An audience which filled every seat in the opera house on the occasion of the commencement exercises of the Brainerd high school was charmed and thrilled by the inspiring eloquence of Bishop E. H. Hughes, of San Francisco, who delivered the address of the evening.

The stage was appropriately decorated with ferns and flowers and above all was suspended the motto of the class of 1912, "Out of School Life Into Life's School." The boxes and the stage were draped with green and white, the class colors. On the stage were seated the speaker of the evening, Bishop Hughes, Rev. G. P. Sheridan, Rev. W. J. Lowrie, Supt. W. C. Cobb, Principal L. T. McCarty, Prof. Callan and W. E. Erickson and Louis Hohman, members of the school board. Occupying a semi-circle on the stage was the graduating class.

The girls' glee club sang "Forget-Me-Nots." Miss Mildred Skauge accompanying them on the piano, John Mahlum, the president of the class, extended a welcome to the commencement exercises and in the course of his address thanked the faculty, the board of education and the citizens in general for the advantages of education enjoyed at the high school. He bid farewell to the class and in closing said: "Some of us may prosper. Some may face adversity. But all of us will speak only with the greatest love and respect for the school we are leaving tonight."

Miss Hooper's song, "The Swallows," was rendered in a manner which drew hearty applause. She was accompanied by Miss Nell Fie Alderman.

Bishop Hughes was appropriately introduced by Supt. W. C. Cobb, of the city schools. The bishop chose as his subject, "The Perils of Knowledge." He believed that principals and superintendents might be afraid of the subject he was to discuss on the one evening of the year presumably glorifying education and that his topic might appear inappropriate. He then gave the example of the lecturer who discoursed on the perils of beauty. His audience first regarded him as a frivolous critic but later he made his point. He traced the reign of the beauties of old, of Helen of Troy, Cleopatra, the strangely tragic and bloody chapter in Scotch history at the time of Mary, Queen of Scots, showing that beauty bore no frivolous relation to history. Then after the lecturer had wrought up his audience to its highest pitch, he looked them over and said:

"There is no cause for alarm. Nobody is in immediate danger."

"In the same manner," said the bishop, "I shall now speak of the perils of knowledge, but it would not be right for me to say that no one was in immediate danger. The young people on the stage were at the point where education may play them a trick. 'A little knowledge is a dangerous thing.' 'Knowledge puffeth up.' There were certain dangers inherent in a type of intellectual life. Everything has a double side, that of safety and danger, depending upon the right or wrong attitude in which one regarded it. Keeping the right relation to the law of gravity permitted him to stand upon the stage. Taking three steps forward would put him in the wrong relation and he would fall prone to the ground. The law is always the same, the danger only results when a man is out of key with the law of gravitation. Water in the huge reservoir of a city in Pennsylvania, acting in its right relation, supplied the city with water. When that same water seeped through a crevice, burst the walls and tore down the hillside and wiped Johnstown off the map it acted in the wrong relation.

He traced right and wrong attitudes in religion, the peasant revolts in Germany, St. Bartholomew's bloody days, the persecutions of the Jews. Education does not escape the double law. When a young man gets an ideal beyond his performance he is possessed with the temptation to quite performing. He quoted the example of Frederick Amiel, the brilliant and erratic professor whose diary sustained this point.

An example of self consciousness was the young girl with the pleasing voice who sang without much encouragement. Later she had the experience of tuition. Her voice became cultivated and with the cultivation urgent entreaties were necessary in order to make her sing. There is a sophomore stage of knowledge when a man becomes critical of himself. The student needs a note of obligation in his life. The goal in life is a moving goal and he illustrated by describing an ocean voyage with its ever receding horizon. The goal of intellectual life was a flying goal. At no time can we say a period has been reached. "When the time comes that you think you have preached your best sermon, be scared to death."

The first peril of knowledge is that we become self conscious. We become critical of ourselves. But one person out of 15 that one meets is a graduate of a high school. 1 person out of 100 has the degree of bachelor of arts. Many a man is in danger of believing that these honors put him in a class of the select. The bishop was always uneasy when some of his students spoke of the masses and made covert references to the "common run," the "rank and file." Whenever a man gets such an idea of classifying humanity he stands on the edge of a precipice.

"I do not want an intellectual aristocracy which shall stand upon a pedestal and look down upon the people." He detested intellectual snobbery. He described the difference in two families, one where the German parents had educated their children to such a point that the young man and woman were ashamed of the broken English of their parents. The other type was the young man who acknowledged the aid his parents had given him in securing an education, who had them attend the commencement exercises and whose address bore a real message, for the young man felt it himself and wanted others to feel it. The father turned to his wife and said: "Mary, that is the best crop we ever raised."

All our corn fields, oat fields and wheat fields amount to nothing unless we raise the right crops of manhood and womanhood. God save us from an aristocracy which talks of the "rank and file," the "hoi polloi."

Some believe that knowledge can be made a substitute for moral character. He quoted Edgar Allan Poe, Lord Byron, Carlyle and Bobby Burns. There was necessarily no connection between knowledge and meanness, and goodness and illiteracy. A moral tribute to education was the fact that 80 per cent of the 1200 inmates of the Jeffersonville reformatory had not attended high school. In that whole list of prisoners there was but one high school graduate. Knowledge did not necessarily produce character. Edgar Allan Poe, the most brilliant man in American letters, walked with the stars intellectually and wallowed in the mud morally. Humanity will not trust you to follow you if you have not the character. True manhood and womanhood are the only prizes on earth that are worth while.

Another peril is to make knowledge an end instead of the means to an end. It is gratifying that the leader in each political party is a college man who tells men of the colleges that they are under greater obligations to society than the unlettered man.

"The end of knowledge is character expressed in service," said the bishop in conclusion. Turning to the class he mentioned the money that had been spent on their education. What sort of a return would they give Brainerd, the state of Minnesota, the United States for the investment made?

The man of attainments who rendered no intellectual service was a bad man. The bishop paid a tribute to the old McGuffey readers and mentioned the story of the miser who in the end died with his money. "Money is never any good until it is converted into something better than money." The time is coming when the bookworm will be held more contemptible than the miser. He closed in an eloquent appeal to the graduating class to attain the ideals and fulfill the hopes of their parents and that their endeavors would lead them to attain the highest fields of character. The address of Bishop Hughes was frequently interrupted with applause. After the exercises he held an informal reception on the stage and shook hands with all of the class and many in the audience.

The mixed glee club sang, "Out on the Deep." W. E. Erickson, president of the board of education, granted the diplomas, the clerk, Louis Hohman, reading the names of the graduates. Rev. G. P. Sheridan gave the benediction.

Benjamin Weber attained the highest grades in the class, his final examination papers showing marks from 95 to 100. He was the valedictorian of the class.

The senior class of the Brainerd high school visited Crosby Tuesday and spent a pleasant afternoon and evening there, picnicking and boating. The Ingalls Motor Boat Co. gave the class a treat in the shape of a boat ride.

An opera house is being figured on for the range town. "This will be the place to hold your democratic conventions," said Henry Spalding. "There is nothing like a cool Serpentine lake breeze for the heated brow of an enthusiastic politician."

Dr. Beardsley and Ben Mizen attended the lectures given on the agricultural special at Deerwood.

The Thompson mine has its drifts in ore and is developing the ore body, ready to ship on short notice.

Capt. William Wearne, of Hibbing, was in town last week.

George H. Crosby has commenced construction of his ten houses, some of which will be located in Lake Park and others in Park division. Basting has been commenced on one of them.

Dispatch Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence

This Brainerd citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of undoubted benefit.

The facts are now confirmed.

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit. Charles Ellison, 512 S. Quince St., Brainerd, Minn., says: "My kidneys were disordered for several years and as time passed, my condition grew worse. About a year ago I was suddenly taken with such a severe pain in the small of my back that I had to stop work and go to bed. Medicine relieved me somewhat and I got out in a few weeks, but I still suffered severely. Someone finally advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I procured a supply. The contents of a few boxes restored me to good health and corrected all symptoms of my complaint. I am confident that Doan's Kidney Pills will act just as satisfactorily in other cases of kidney trouble." (Statement given September 1, 1908.)

GARRISON BREEZES

The pike fry recently put in Mille Laacs lake by Mr. Charles Barnard, have grown to be a great inconvenience to the fishermen of Mille Laacs, as they have grown so fast they often catch as high as two hundred a day about six inches or longer, which has to be thrown back into the lake, as the state prohibits the sale of pike fish under fourteen inches long.

Mr. Dode Halstead received a telegram Saturday evening informing him of the serious illness of his daughter. He left for her home in South Dakota the next morning.

Miss Martha Keough will leave Friday morning for a two days' visit at her home near Brainerd, returning Sunday to finish her school of which she has three weeks left.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin and Mrs. Wm. Sullivan were in Brainerd one day last week. Ask Mr. Benjamin what he took them out for.

Misses Lizzie Sullivan, Florence and Carrie Benjamin are taking the state examinations at the Garrison school, their school having been closed two weeks.

A load of young folks from Garrison attended the dance last Saturday given in Love's hall at Dykeman. All reported a good time. Miss Lizzie Sullivan did not go as her escort had been seriously frightened a few evenings before by a robber as he supposed, and had not recovered from the shock in sufficient time to take her.

Ben Smith is all smiles these days. I wonder why?

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Dinwiddie and children, of Vineland, were visitors at the Garrison hotel Sunday. They reported the loss of a fine Scotch collie pup, age about seven months, which had just been shipped to them through Brainerd. They think he started back. Anyone finding him would greatly oblige them by notifying them at Vineland.

The ball game between Dykeman and Midland May 19th, was a failure. But the audience was greatly entertained by Herman Smith, of Borden lake, who addressed those who were in favor of stocking Mille Laacs lake with pike fry. You're all right, Herman. A good lecture is as good as a ball game any time.

DESPERADO KILLED IN RUNNING FIGHT

North Dakota Posse Gets Man Who Terrorized Town.

Fargo, N. D., May 30.—After a running gun fight of three miles, during which he fought off a posse of fifty men with a single revolver, an unidentified desperado was killed after having terrorized Buffalo, a village thirty-five miles west of here, for several hours. The posse was led by Village Marshal W. P. Keepe and George J. Nachtsheim.

The bandit is unknown either to officers or Buffalo citizens. He appeared in the streets of Buffalo during the morning. He was six feet tall, wore a flaming red bandanna about his neck and carried a 45-caliber gun at his belt like the gun man of frontier days. He swaggered down the main street of Buffalo and entered a restaurant, where he ordered a meal. This he refused to pay for. When the proprietor demanded money the man drew his gun and said, "I guess this is good enough for you," shooting out two windows in the place. With the proprietor still covered he backed out the door.

A posse was formed in the village under the direction of the marshal. Fifty citizens were deputized. Some rode horses and others walked. All were armed.

The man saw the posse coming and ran west. The officers approached him and called on him to surrender. The man responded with a volley and the posse answered. Unable to overtake the fleeing man and capture him the posse continued firing. The outlaw fell. The officers rushed up and found him dead, a rifle bullet having pierced his brain.

DOUBLY PROVEN

Dispatch Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence

This Brainerd citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of undoubted benefit.

The facts are now confirmed.

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit. Charles Ellison, 512 S. Quince St., Brainerd, Minn., says: "My kidneys were disordered for several years and as time passed, my condition grew worse. About a year ago I was suddenly taken with such a severe pain in the small of my back that I had to stop work and go to bed. Medicine relieved me somewhat and I got out in a few weeks, but I still suffered severely. Someone finally advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I procured a supply. The contents of a few boxes restored me to good health and corrected all symptoms of my complaint. I am confident that Doan's Kidney Pills will act just as satisfactorily in other cases of kidney trouble." (Statement given September 1, 1908.)
